

Hello Expectant Parents,

We understand the incredibly selfless and difficult decision you are trying to make. As parents, we hope to instill our values of education, hard work, dedication, empathy, kindness, patience, respect, equality, honesty, and lastly to "do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

We have been married for 4 years, but in a relationship for 13. As a teacher and nurse we educate, love, and care for our students/patients daily. We hope to have a child to share that same love and support for in the future.

We are grateful that you are creating an adoption plan and allowing us the opportunity to show you a small piece of our family. We are looking forward to adding a child to our lives and we completely understand how much our world will change because of adoption. We are looking forward to meeting you and allowing us to show you what we have to offer.

Love,

Amanda and Derek
